THE BLOCK AND GUILLOTINE AX.

As election day approaches their is a manifest nervousness taking hold upon the people, which should not be if it could be avoided, but a sense of uncertainty has its influence, which comes to a virtuous citizen who is a patriot from two causes. One is a desire to preserve home and country from commercial vandals, who are seeking to destroy both through commercial trusts. The other is in means resorted to by a commercial element there is in the Republican party to aid commercial vandals by propagating a spirit of commercial vandalism to set aside the will of patriots, through the purchase of votes, which is, of all the methods applied to secure imperialism and an empire, the most dangerous to the future of the republic.

Rome was safe as a republic until its citizens were bought and sold in the forum. Then came decay to the spirit of republican patriotism, and the republic became an empire. The same commercial spirit that developed among citizens of Rome to deal in the patriotism of the Romans by buying them is practiced by Republicans in the Republican party to procure the downfall of the American republic.

The commercial spirit is sustained and relied upon by the Republican party for success at elections to continue a downward course, by destroying in the people that love of republican institutions which must prevail to secure liberty from commercial slavery arising from an imperial system of government, or a one-man power directed by villainy in commercial trusts.

Through the purchase of votes the Republican party has largely succeeded in retaining power, which power has been used to overthrow American institutions and substitute imperialism to oppress the people. The writer believes he has a proper conception and knowledge of the situation presented through vote purchase. History furnishes proof of the villainy of the practice in the overthrow of the most powerful republic and government system the world had known, when the Roman republic was destroyed through the corrupting effect of money upon its citizens.

The purchase of votes was introduced as a part of the commercial system to secure power about three decades since, and it has continued to increase its corrupting effect to the present, until it is openly relied upon as a means, not only to retain power, but to use it for the destruction of the American system of government and to enslave the American people, whose liberty it fears and hates. Commercial imperialism is in opposition to all that is good in government for the people, as it is a positive antagonist to liberty, and consequently is a promoter of slavery.

The intention of Mark Hanna is to secure Nevada for McKinley through the use of money as it cannot be secured by other means. The agents of Hanna and imperialists, to procure a more general system of slavery for the people, are now in the State to do the work that will aid in securing it through the use of money. It is the intention of these agents now as it ever has been from the beginning to oppose and defeat independent men who are friends to the people and who are at work in earnest in their opposition to enslaving them to imperialists.

Chief among these men is Francis G. Newlands who has made a record in Congress that clearly gives him a position as a friend of the people and a friend to the American system of government. In terms, he has made a record that classes him among leading Americans who are a bane to imperialists and to their work, which is anti-American in all of its parts and in all of its objects. His work in Congress against the passage of the Porto Rican bill will be a monument to his honor that will cause Americans yet unborn to rise up and bless him. His arguments were founded upon humanity and clothed in justice, they were full of wisdom, and authority taken from decisions made by the United States Supreme court which support his position.

The breath of liberty is in the sentences they contain—they overflow with freedom provided in abundance by Washington, Jefferson and Madison for the American people which is an unpardonable sin against commercial imperialism, and the flat directing the signer's political execution and death has gone forth from Hanna and the trusts, and their agents are here to do the work.

The body, not the brains of Farrington of Elko will do duty as an executive's block, while Bill Stewart and Charlie Wallace with answering sardonic grins upon their unblushing faces, will manage the guillotine axe, and a large number of invited spectators will receive dollars provided by trusts to reward them for selling themselves to aid the odious work.

Such are the details as at present arranged by the agents of Hanna for the political execution of Francis G. Newlands. There is a present, for Hanna and his agents, and there is a near future in which the men in Nevada mean business.

UP-COUNTRY HAPPENINGS

Items From Our Regular Correspondent up on the N.C.O.

L. P. Wheeler came in from the north last night.

Today lumber will be hauled from the S. V. R. R. for the Constantia station building.

The station buildings at Amedee and Terro are overflowing with freight for the north.

The northern country people are prophesying a heavy winter. They look for plenty of water in the spring.

W. Willy shipped twelve carloads of cattle yesterday from Amedee for the Western Meat Co. He will ship 1,200 head of beef this fall.

All the crews are making good time on account of extra heavy passenger and freight traffic. A number of extra trains are being run to bring in stock.

Not only the train men and other employees of the S. V. R. R. but everybody along the line is pleased with the new management and premise co-operation with the road.

A Sierra Valley Wedding.

A quiet little wedding was celebrated at Loyalton, California, on Sunday, October 7th, the contracting parties being Miss Mae Nicholson of that place and Mr. A. E. Simpson of Wadsworth.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, by the Rev. J. Garvin. Only a few relatives and intimate friends were present. Following the ceremony a sumptuous wedding supper was partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson were the recipients of many handsome presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson departed on last evening's train for Wadsworth, where they will make their future home. A score of friends accompanied them to the depot and wished them a world of happiness.

Will Support Newlands.

C. A. Scott, one of Reno's prominent business men and a staunch Republican, informed a JOURNAL reporter last evening that he would vote for Hon. Francis G. Newlands for re-election to Congress. Mr. Scott is a man who votes according to the dictates of his best judgment. He is assured that Mr. Newlands has represented his constituency ably, wisely and well. He has been tried and found worthy. He is loyal to the State and should be returned to his post.

Hot Air Needed.

A young Bryanite was noticed yesterday gazing intently at the McKinley and Roosevelt banner suspended across Virginia street.

"Aint that a dandy?" queried an enthusiastic Hanneite.

"The only thing I see wrong is that the artist left out the bicycle pump to fill that dinner pail with."

A Worthy Man.

R. W. Cowles, Republican candidate for the assembly, announces himself in this issue of the JOURNAL. Dick is one of Wadsworth's progressive merchants. He is an honest, clear headed business man and would make a good legislator if the county majority wasn't so all-fired big for the fusionists this year.

M.-C.-O. Improvements.

Bob Mitchell, one of the narrow gauge carpenters, came in from Terro yesterday. He said that the company would begin immediately the erection of station buildings at Constantia and Armstrong. Stock corral will also be built at the latter place. George Hollsworth has the contract.

More Than Seven Thousand.

There are 1,434 voters on the Reno registry list. Two years ago they numbered 1,312. This is an increase of 17, or an increase of eight per cent. Counting five inhabitants to every voter, which is the established average, Reno and its suburbs have a population of 7,420.

An Interesting Game.

Every evening the Varsity football players are hard at work practicing for Saturday's game. This contest with the famous Reliance team will be the best seen on the home gridiron this season. The U. N. players will compete with Stanford and U. C. on California grounds.

Henry Ritter's free lunches are made from the best material the market affords; enough for a hungry man. A bit buys a good drink to wash it down.

On the Up Grade.

The present management of the JOURNAL has had control for nearly two years. During this time the circulation has doubled, lacking fifteen papers. The paper is taken in every county in Nevada, eastern Oregon and northeastern California. The subscription list is growing every week, and nearly every day. This is a tip for advertisers.

DEPLORABLE
APATHY

The Republicans Succeeded in Holding a Seance Last Night.

"Deplorable apathy is being displayed by the Republicans of Washoe county." With these words National Committeeman Flanigan began his introductory address last evening in the opera house.

He then laid down a rule for overcoming this "deplorable apathy": "Work with the men in your employ to get them to support McKinley."

There was a good-sized audience, drawn by promises that a literary treat was in store. The people came to hear F. X. Scheenmaker, a brilliant orator, whom Reno has listened to on non-political topics; but, like last week's orator, Mr. S. failed to arrive. Instead one Chandler, a spell-binder from Chicago, held the ball.

Senator Flanigan and Frank Norcross opened the ball, with the assistance of excellent music by Messrs. Smith, Jamison and Ward brothers, termed for the occasion the Flanigan quartette.

Mr. Chandler may be truthfully styled "The Great Apologist." He admitted that the Republican convention had turned the western silverites down, but explained it on the grounds that the eastern Republicans wanted it done, and they are in the majority.

The speaker proved to his own complete satisfaction that the silver issue was dead, and asked Nevada to bury its corpse and come back into the fold. With tears in voice and eyes he pleaded with the audience to forsake the leading industry of the State and help the eastern trusts get returns on their $18,000,000 campaign fund.

After calling Bryan "political adventurer," "master of spectacular stage play," "a practitioner of cowardly evasion," and "ambiguous declarations," and advancing other brilliant arguments, Mr. Chandler took up the trust question:

"I do not deny that we are responsible for the trusts," but, etc. The reporter went out with the crowd.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Gossip About the Migrating Public as They Come and Go.

Frank H. Norcross has returned from the eastern part of the State, where he did Republican politics.

Sam Mozingo, Hugh Sennery, John Wright and George Robinson have returned from a bear hunt in the Hell Hole country.

J. B. Ratcliffe came up from San Francisco yesterday. After spending a few days at home he will go to Plumas and re-engage in mining.

Jerry Correco Flips.

Everybody knows Jerry Correco. He is one of our solid business men and land owners. Aside from farming interests in Washoe county, he is in the hotel business across the line in Plumas county.

Mr. Correco has been one of the leading Republicans of Western Nevada, but on the 6th of November he will cast his ballot for Bryan, Newlands, Jackson and the balance of the fusion ticket.

Jerry informed a JOURNAL reporter that he was anti-trust and anti-imperialism to the backbone, and that many other former Republicans in Washoe county would, like himself, desert the party that pandered to the rich and oppressed the poor.

Home From His Travels.

L. F. Stalling, the well-known prospector, mysteriously disappeared a month or so ago. Yesterday he dropped into town with a handsome front on.

He made a recreation tour of the west, getting as far back as Chicago. On his way home he spent a few days in the Humboldt county copper camps. He reports good prospects and great activity there. Mr. Stalling will do his overalls and go prospecting again in this vicinity.

EXCURSION TO PLUMAS

A Merry Party Spends Sunday in the Heart of the Sierras

The first excursion from Reno to the northern forests was a very pleasant affair. Two cars filled with pleasure seekers left the N.O.O. depot at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Bert Smith, the crack runner of the narrow gauge, bossed the engine and Sam Phelan, with a new uniform on, conducted the train.

A quick run was made to Plumas Junction, where engines were changed with little delay. George Holman of the S. V. R. R. took charge of the party there.

At each of the stops music was furnished by the superb orchestra of the Palace hotel.

Henry Riter, Jim Mayberry and "Dike" Updike were the moving spirits of the party and kept everybody in good humor. Songs, political speeches and cheers for everybody and for everything along the line enlivened the journey. At Cuba, Vinton and Beckwith there were delegations of citizens to greet the excursionists.

Several pleasant hours were spent at Clairville-in-the-Pines. On the return the excursionists by unanimous vote declared General Manager Dunaway and Bowen jolly good tramps.

The Attraction of the Year.

The Boston Lyric Opera Company comes to the opera house for two nights and Saturday matinee, October 28th and 27th, with three great comic opera productions that will be given with a degree of spontaneity in scenery, costumes and electrical effects that will exceed anything heretofore presented on the local stage. "The Idol's Eye," with but one exception, is the first story that has been laid in the attractively picturesque country of East India. That one exception was a work produced about a dozen years ago by the McCaull Opera Company, and entitled "The Begum."

Victor Herbert has composed for the opera a score filled with many pleasant melodies, destined to become very popular.

During the Boston Lyric's engagement here "Said Pasha" and "The Fencing Master" will be produced.

Football Benefit. The University Dramatic Club is busily rehearsing "Captain Racket," and from present appearances the play will be the best production ever given on the hill.

The football team certainly deserves the support of our people, and the proceeds of this entertainment are to aid the manager in his attempts to make this the most successful football season in the history of the college. The gymnasium should be crowded on next Thursday evening.

Painfully Injured.

R. W. Parry was painfully and permanently injured at his corral yesterday. A steer collided with a horse he was riding. The latter fell and Bob under him. He is suffering considerable pain from the accident.

THE VERDICT OF SMOKERS

is every time in favor of our Tansill's Punch when it comes to a trial of 5 cent cigars. The jury decides the same way as to our Belmonts sold at 10 cents.

Everything a smoker requires to be found here—pipes, smoking tobacco.
